

House Resolution No.

Whereas, the members of the Missouri House of Representatives hold in high esteem those Show-Me State educational institutions which admirably prepare students for future roles as societal leaders through high standards of conduct and performance on the part of their adult teachers and school administrators; and

Whereas, Clardy Elementary School in the North Kansas City School District has attained considerable distinction for its successful efforts to make the library media program the heart of the learning environment; and

Whereas, on April 18, 2004, Clardy Elementary School will enhance its already stellar reputation when it receives the 2004 Progressive School Library Media Program Award from the Missouri Association of School Librarians at that organization's spring conference at Tan-Tar-A at centrally located Lake of the Ozarks; and

Whereas, headed by Principal David Cox, Clardy Elementary School educates nearly five hundred second-through-fifth graders through the efforts of thirty-five certificated staff; and

Whereas, the library media center at Clardy Elementary School not only serves its own students, but also the one hundred students enrolled in the district gifted program and an additional two hundred students enrolled in the summer learning program for mastery and preschool; and

Whereas, seven years ago North Kansas City schools adopted flexible scheduling for kindergarten through twelfth grade classes in order to include library media staffers as instructional leaders, information and technology specialists, and program managers; and

Whereas, Clardy Elementary School earned the 2004 Progressive School Library Media Program Award based on its emphasis on the quality as well as the quantity of its personnel, programs, and media holdings:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the members of the Missouri House of Representatives, Ninety-second General Assembly, join unanimously to applaud the selection of Clardy Elementary School for the 2004 Progressive School Library Media Program Award from the Missouri Association of School Librarians and to convey to all of those involved this legislative body's heartiest best wishes for continued achievement for many more years to come; and

Be it further resolved that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution for Clardy Elementary School in the North Kansas City School District.
